Addendum:

Question:

Has the Energy Smart TPA, TPE, or other contractors performed any studies or papers related to Energy Smart measures in addition to the Energy Smart Annual Evaluation Reports that we've already received? If so, please provide such reports. The March 1, 2018 Advisor's Report indicates that during the Energy Smart technical conferences, the TPA concluded that expanding direct load control to hot water heaters and pool pumps was not cost effective, but that there was potential to offer demand response programs to large commercial and industrial customers. Please provide any reports or studies supporting those TPA conclusions.

Response:

To ENO's knowledge, no additional studies related to Energy Smart measures have been performed by the TPA, TPE or other contractors.
