6	THE COURT:
7	We're going to
8	deal with 2 cases today, everybody knows
9	that. We're going to deal with both the 10	Alliance for Affordable Energy et al versus
11	The City Council of New Orleans, 2018-03471
12	as well as 2018-03843, Deep South Center
13	for Environmental Justice versus The 14	Council for The City of New Orleans. First
15	I was going to have you guys say which one
16	you wanted to hear first, One is a written
17	judgment and I know that I've taken quite a 18	bit of time because I wanted to get it what
19	I considered right.
20	During the process
21	I learned a lot, a lot about the process
22	that the City and the City Council goes 23	through. I've learned that the citizens of 24	New Orleans are deeply concerned about,
25	both the City Council and the citizens of
26	New Orleans are deeply concerned about 27	making sure that we not only have the 28	appropriate energy necessary to power the 29	City but that we also do everything in an 30	appropriate way. I'm going to first, I 31	think the counsels in front of me, some of whom are different from the other case, deal with 2018-38436. That's the one that deals with, among other things, the issue of the open meetings laws. One thing I did determine, and I will applaud and ya'll can take it the way you wish to take it, I do applaud the City Councilmembers who were there who did their due diligence and make sure that ya'll understand the City understands that my judgment, though applauding the City, does rule against the City. And let me explain to you why. The Open Meetings Laws were designed and continue to be designed to ensure that the citizens, that their voices be heard and that they have an opportunity to have a seat at the table when decisions are made by those that they've elected to make those decisions. My review of that, I don't get to decide whether I agree or disagree, that's not the issue. The issue upon appeal is whether or not there was a substantial compliance, the City Council, and I guess my judgment won't make sense to everybody since I'm going to make this statement because I will make this statement, I don't see that they did anything wrong, but even though they did nothing wrong the reality becomes this; the citizens of New Orleans have to believe in the process and trust the process. And to believe in and trust the process they have to have an appreciation that the process itself is one in which their voices are heard. The City's investigation showed they were paid citizens, that those paid citizens were present and to some extent may have skewed the presentation, that does not mean that, again, that the Council did anything wrong or that the views ultimately, that the decision ultimately made by the Council was at all wrong, but in making this decision I have to look at and have in my own opinion and looking at whether there is substantial compliance make sure that there is...there is in fact adherence to the policy behind the Open Meetings Laws. And so after having reviewed all the record, and I'm only vacating the judgment because I want to make sure that as the City Council has the meetings that there is no, that the citizen's voices are heard, that the citizen's voices are in the room to the extent they choose to be in the room and that there is a true appreciation for both the pros, cons and in essence what I'm saying is that Energy's actions undermined the Public Meetings Laws. I can't say it any differently. That being said, that is my judgment in that case. I would ask that Petitioners simply prepare a judgment that vacates the original ruling finding that the Open Meetings laws were not adhered to as relates to the meaning and policy behind the Open Meetings Laws.

32

32

We now move on to 2018-03471, and that's a written judgment and we will give, who are the attorneys in that? Let's change seats. We are copying that judgment, that judgment is 26 pages long, it's taking a minute. I'm going to do for purposes, you will get the judgment, Tawanda is making one of my staff members is making a copy. In that instance, in that case involved whether or not the City's determination and the Council's determination in allowing Entergy to build the plant in some what violated the due process rights of the Petitioners, it did not. And in that instance I rule squarely in favor of the City and find that the City, in looking at the Resolution and the settlement agreement and all of the history that, and you, ya'll will have, the lawyers will have my judgment to look at. The reality is this, from what I could see the City did a very good job of making sure notice of hearings were had, the City in it's concern for what was clearly taking place in the industry meaning that in the energy industry there were these agreements there were being massaged, is probably the best word to say, but they were being dealt with as Entergy the Corporation bought several subsidiaries and subsequently figured out a way to make sure that these subsidiaries were able to stand on their own. Because of these changes the City did it's due diligence, I can't say it any different, they had multiple meetings, they did investigation, they made a determination based on lots of evidentiary, lots of evidentiary hearings. This is one of the things I know and I know that one of the things the Petitioners says that they didn't know, clearly the City notified everybody of what was going on. I don't think people appreciated the magnitude of what was happening until the ninth hour. And it is clear from what I read and from the information provided to me that the City and it's advisors, I know one of the arguments made by Petitioners is that the presence of the advisors in some way was also a violation of due process, again I feel that it was not. The only way that the City functions is if it has people who have knowledge within an area that are able to do the investigation necessary. I looked at the case law regarding ratemaking versus rule determination and determined that the City as it was acting in this particular matter as the entity responsible for the utilities and more specifically for energy, that it did not, it was not inappropriate for it to have the advisors and have the advisors both help them through the process and help them make a decision that was good for the citizens at large. The determination of the type of plant needed was done after much negotiations, and again, the opinion is 26 pages, and it's 26 pages because I wanted the Petitioners to understand that I looked at everything. I didn't want them to think I did not have an appreciation for all of their arguments and all everything that they said, but I just did not find that given the circumstances and given the actions taken by the City that there was any failure by the City to both give notice, to both act appropriately and do a due diligence investigation and to make a determination that they believe was in the best interest of the citizens of New Orleans. One of the things that the Petitioners do talk about is the failure to consider all the alternatives as relates to or options other than building a new facility, it's talked about. Everything that I believe the Petitioners suggest was not considered, it's in the Resolution, they considered it and they for whatever reasons, and again, my role is not to decide that I would have done it better, that's not my role. My role is to determine whether or not they acted arbitrary and capricious and whether or not any evidence, whether there is sufficient evidence up the record to suggest that they did something that violated again, due process in not, in making the determination that they made. I'm not going to go through all 26 pages but I am going to say that is my judgment, it is a written judgment, it is signed today and if you want your copy of the judgment we have it for you, you can take it. We just need you to sign for it. If you want us to mail it to you we can mail it to you. If citizens want a copy of the judgment we have to figure that out because it's 26 pages.

32

Thank you all very much for your patience. I know to some extent, and I've been very, what's the word... general, in my comments relative to both judgments but I think that the parties who are participating understand my ruling. If they don't understand my ruling you can raise your hand and I can try to give you some level of clarity, but my rulings are what they are. Thank ya'll very much. Anybody have any questions? Thank you.
