The LPSC regulates public utilities in the state of Louisiana. It is a powerful government body that makes real decisions about your energy bills, significantly impacting the lives of residents in our state every single day.

WHAT DOES THE LPSC DO?

- Sets consumer rates & utility profits
  They set utility rates for the majority of Louisiana residents and determine how much return on equity (profit) the utilities can make.

- Approve or deny resources
  They have authority to approve or deny nearly all resource additions, like a new gas plant or solar farm.

- Determine the value of solar energy
  They decide on the value of residential rooftop solar, through what is called net metering policies.

- Determine storm costs
  They determine what storm costs will be passed onto customers and how those costs will be recovered.

- Implement programs
  They are responsible for implementing our energy efficiency programs which reduce energy use, save money and help us meet our growing energy needs.
